The screenshot shows the 'Create repository' form in Visual Studio. It includes a 'Description' field with the placeholder text 'Enter the description of the GitHub repository <Optional>'. The 'Visibility' dropdown menu is open, showing options for 'Public', 'Private' (which is selected and highlighted in blue), and 'Internal'. Below the dropdown, there is a button labeled 'Push your code to GitHub' with an upward arrow icon, and a text field containing the URL 'https://github.com/ilmarsapeinans/example'.
